Lars - I wanted to give you a heads up that we'll have at least one uninvited guest at the meeting next week, Bill Hall from Hall and Associates. Not sure if you are familiar with him, but he learned about it from one of our invited participants. Since it's at EPA they feel like they can come regardless of whether they were invited.

I suppose he needs to be added to the security list as well.

-Chris

Chris

Given the topics of discussion, the scope of entities attending (State, federal, consultants, municipal) and the likely effect of any discussion on future efforts required to meet the criteria, we certainly want Bill to be able to attend to listen in. This meeting seems little different in structure and makeup than others EPA has conducted recently which had public access (you know- their "listening sessions").
